This page is a privacy notice which tells you what to expect when NIWE Eating Distress Services (NIWE) collects information about visitors to our website.

Website visitors

When someone visits NIWE’s website, we collect standard internet log information and details of visitor behaviour patterns. We do this to find out things such as the number of visitors to the different pages of our website. We collect this information in a way which does not identify anyone. We do not associate any data gathered from this site with any personally identifying information from any source. If we do want to collect personally identifiable information through our website, we will be transparent about this. We will make it clear when we collect personal information and will explain what we intend to do with it (see our Privacy Notice).

Use of cookies by NIWE

Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer by websites that you visit. They are widely used across the Internet in order to make websites work, or work more efficiently, as well as to provide information to the owners of the website. The table below explains the cookies we use and why.
